Based upon the available information, the dwelling at 107 North 4th Street in Denton, Caroline County, Maryland is located just outside the Denton Historic District and is not individually eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

The dwelling is a two-story, three-bay, central-passage building and covered with a steeply pitched gable roof. A shed roof porch with spindle columns extends across the front elevation. Built in the mid-19th century, the house is typical of the vernacular domestic buildings of the Eastern Shore from this period and lacks the architectural distinctiveness and integrity necessary to qualify it for listing on the National Register under Criterion C.

The property is not known to have associations with persons or events significant to our past and is thus not eligible under Criteria A or B.

Documentation on the property/district is presented in: Review and Compliance Files
